Karen Buttles McGuire

Summary:

As an Interspiritual Companion I provide a safe, non-judgmental and accepting space for you to be yourself and to tell your stories, to be really seen, to experience deep listening. When we feel deeply heard we become aware of our own inner voice. In that sacred space, you can move closer to what gives meaning to your life, uncover answers to what has had you stuck, discover a path through a difficult life experience, free the wild possibilities within you, or transform your way of being in the world. We are all faced with that journey in our lives and it's easier to take it with a supportive companion. I'll accompany you on your journey of self-discovery, not by directing but by listening, noticing and reflecting back so that you can discover who you can be.
